The Gleichen School Fair

October 9th

For some years the Provincial Department of Agriculture has been active in the organization and assistance of school fairs throughout Alberta. The fair to be held in Gleichen on October 9th, however, will be the first event of this nature in which schools in the immediate Gleichen district have taken part.

On that date children from the Chazy, Craigmile, Dana (Standard), Hanchuan, Jeanne d'Arc, Meadow Grove, Old Bus, Shannock, Sunny Range (Chancellor), Whetford and Gleichen schools will come into Gleichen and exhibit garden produce, livestock, grain, cooking, sewing and school work which they have grown, raised or prepared themselves.

Over two hundred children have stated they will compete, bringing in such items as fruit, vegetables and the Gleichen School No. 1 has kindly consented to the use of its school on that date in which to hold the fair.

Since the school fair originated in this province, organization has been given to the fair in the form of a committee which has been held by the Gleichen School Association in those territories the particular committee has been formed.

During the previous year, the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school.

However, with the fair of 1920, the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school.

Over the fair of 1920, the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school.

Representatives to arrange for the fair have been appointed, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school, and the Gleichen school fair was held at the Gleichen school.

Attention Veterans!

The Canadian Army Dental Corps having been demobilized on April 10th last, arrangements have been completed, whereby any returned veteran, whose dental work was not completed prior to the above date, may have this work done at a civilian dentist nearest his place of residence.

Transportation and subsistence will be allowed if necessary in all cases authorized for treatment. Those desiring treatment should make application to the District Dental Officer and forward at the same time their Reg. No., Rank, Unit and date of discharge to Capt. T. C. Bruce, D.D.C., Calgary.

Hall Insurance Facts

Few people realize the value of the protection afforded the farmer in the Gleichen district through the hall insurance company. This district has proved a very unpredictable field for the companies operating here.

The following figures received from the Canadian Hall Insurance Association by E. W. Taylor, who has secured conclusive proof of this fact, are as follows:

The record for this company shows that in townships 19 to 24 inclusive, range 20 to 24 inclusive, the premiums collected totaled up $218,368.00 and the total loss paid amounted to $285,700.00, which amounted to a loss to the hall company of over $75,000.

The losses paid last year in four townships reached $106,297, while the total premium amounted only to $73,950.

These facts make very plain two facts. First, every acre of crop should be insured against hail, and second, that the company is well aware that this country is as safe as any other to accept hail insurance.

Many are now just becoming aware of the importance of the visit of Imperial Press to Canada and stop of a few hours at Gleichen and are inquiring of how they are to be entertained here. The Board of Trade committee also selected a very strong committee to take entire charge of the program and an excellent program has been already settled upon that will give the visitors the very best of Southern Alberta's resources, and this is their only stop on their western journey besides Calgary and Banff.

Here, too, the two trade journals will be given an entirely different program from anywhere else in Canada. They will see the very best of Alberta's agricultural resources by the car, the course back where he likes to look best—his home. Also they will see the Indian and his original costume, ride and dance, and see the same Indians as prosperous farmers. This program will be carried out to the very minute details of which will be made known later. The committee recognizes a heavy responsibility but is offered assistance and help in all of which will be required and called upon in due time. All the cowboys and Indians are preparing for their events and some extra items are being arranged. The aim is to give the editors the most interesting items of their trip across the country, and they will have reason to remember Gleichen for a long time.

Our school boys have been making some pocket money after school hours and on Saturday by pulling weeds for the farmers near by. Thus the small boy is being useful in his destructive.

Board of Trade Meeting Monday

All members of the Gleichen Board of Trade are requested to be present at the regular meeting held Monday, June 23rd, promptly at 8 o'clock.

J. H. Woods, director of the Calgary Daily Herald, will be present to speak on the visit of the Imperial Press to Gleichen.

Mr. Woods is chairman of the Alberta Press committee in charge of the Imperial Press and has just returned from Montreal, where the entire program for the conference and trip across the Dominion was finally settled. He returned very much impressed and will be in a position then to supply complete information.

The PERSONAL SIDE

PROMINENT WESTERN CHARACTERS—SOME INTERESTING ANECDOTES OF PEOPLE WE ALL KNOW

THE KILLING OF GEORGE BROWN OF THE "GLOBE"

Quite recently Sir James Lochbrey was in reminiscent mood, whilst smoking an after dinner cigar, on the trans-continental train on the way to Ottawa. The name of the late Nicholas Flood Davin came up for discussion and Sir James related the following incident connected with him. Mr. Davin came to Canada in the seventies on a commission from an English journal to write a series of articles on Canadian subjects. He became so much interested in matters of the Dominion that he made up his mind to remain on this side of the water. He had been admitted to the English bar but had to spend some time in a Canadian legal office before he could obtain his status in Canada. He accordingly allied himself in Toronto with the firm of which Mr. Beatty was the head and in which Sir James Lochbrey was then a law student. Mr. Beatty was at one time Mayor of Toronto and engaged in a number of other public activities and he did not devote a great deal of time to his law practice. When motions were to be made in court Mr. Davin almost always officiated for the firm and the wonderful addresses which he made on even the most trivial subjects created a great deal of interest. Whenever it was known that Mr. Davin was to appear the law students flocked to the court to listen to his rounded periods and remarkable declamation. Amongst those who admired Mr. Davin was a printer in the Globe office. Matthews himself, was Davin's rather fond style of oratory, was a man named Matthews. Matthews was an agitator and when occasion arose he would deliver addresses at parties' meetings and other gatherings. One day Toronto was startled by the news that George Brown, the well known publicist and proprietor of the Globe, had been killed by his own office and the assassin was named Matthews. Matthews selected Mr. Davin to defend him. The trial is a matter of Canadian history. Mr. Davin made a most eloquent appeal for the quality of mercy, without avail, and Matthews was sentenced to death. Poor Mr. Davin was very much upset there was no hope of executive clemency. George Brown had been a well known public character and there was great indignation at the manner in which he had met his death. Matthews was sentenced to death. Poor Mr. Davin was very much upset, as representative of the legal firm which had defended the condemned man. His description of the scene, after the lapse of so many years was vivid and interesting. He said that he was least overcast mood that he had ever known to rest over everything. The witnesses of the execution were placed in a little enclosure in the jail yard. The scaffold, with all its sinister paraphernalia, had been erected along one side of the jail wall, and had been surrounded by a railing. A few minutes before the hour set for the execution the sheriff and the officials marched onto the scaffold with Matthews in their midst. The condemned man was the least affected of those present. He stood on the scaffold, the sheriff asked him if he had anything to say. He said "Yes," and received the sheriff's permission to address those present. He walked to the railing surrounding the scaffold and leaning against it, he practiced public speaker, gave his version of the death of George Brown.

During his own employment in the Globe office, he had to work very late hours which forced him to walk home during the dark hours of the night. His way lay through a portion of the street which at that time had a very well kept road. In case of eventualities he had provided himself with a revolver, which he always carried in his hip pocket. A strike had occurred in the Globe office. Mr. Brown, who was a very forceful and dominant character, refused to temporize with the strikers. Matthews went to interview him in the editorial sanctum. George Brown was very hostile and high words ensued. He eventually ordered Matthews out of his presence and on the latter not obeying as readily, perhaps, as he might have done, he called at him and attempted to eject him forcibly. In the fracas that ensued, Matthews produced his revolver and Mr. Brown attempted to disarm him. It went off in the struggle and the great editor was mortally wounded. Matthews declared that he had not the slightest intention of doing any bodily harm to George Brown and deeply deplored the unfortunate occurrence. After he had finished this explanation he turned to the sheriff and said: "Now do your business." He was accordingly hanged most expeditiously.

HON. WILLIAM ELLIOTT, M.D.

Twenty-two years ago, in the old Territories, the district of Wollseley sent to the Legislative Assembly its local medical man, in the person of Dr. William Elliott, a man destined to make an important mark, not only in the politics, but in the administration of the North West Territories, for at a later period the fostering of the most important industry in the west—that of agriculture—fell into his very capable hands. A native of Ontario, his career, till he came to Wollseley, had presented no outstanding features to distinguish him from any other reasonably ambitious young doctor. His parents were Protestant Irish, who came from near Enniskillen. In 1863—August 29th, to be exact—there was born to James and Eleanor Elliott, at their residence, near Mitchell, Ontario, the subject of this notice. The lad was educated at Mitchell High School, at Mitchell, and at the Toronto Normal School, from which he obtained a first-class certificate. He studied medicine, and in 1893 he graduated M.B. with silver medal for general proficiency. He practised at Mitchell and in 1896 married Miss M. J. Carter, daughter of Mr. Wm. Carter, a well-known citizen of Mitchell.

He qualified as a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons for the province of Manitoba, and the North West Territories, as well as for Ontario, and took up his residence at Wollseley in the North West Territories, where his skill, careful attention and the reliability of his diagnoses soon gained him the confidence of both town and country. The position he occupied was marked by his being appointed a member for the College of Physicians and Surgeons for the North West Territories. Dr. Elliott made no secret of his adherence to the Conservative party, but at that time, in theory at any rate, federal politics was not supposed to enter into local elections, and he was returned as a supporter of Premier Haultain's administration. He sat for Wollseley till Saskatchewan was organized as a province, when he was returned as M.L.A. for Moose Mountain district, which included the burg of Wollseley. In 1912, however, he lost his seat to his fellow townsman, Mr. R. A. Magee, in a contest fought on party lines.

For the last two years of Mr. Haultain's administration of the old Territories (1903-5) Dr. Elliott served under him as

Two and Half Millions Asked For the Navy

Gift of The Imperial Government Will Make This Amount Necessary

The Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of naval service, in his statement on Canadian naval service, in the House of Commons, on June 1, 1916, announced that the Imperial Government would be asked to contribute to the cost of the new cruisers, two destroyers and two submarines which have been gifted to Canada by the Imperial Government and mentioned a very important and interesting published memorandum which had been prepared in the Admiralty in London in August, 1915, at a conference of Dominion Ministers. This memorandum was in reply to an admiralty memorandum on the subject of the cost of the new cruisers, two destroyers and two submarines which have been gifted to Canada by the Imperial Government and mentioned a very important and interesting published memorandum which had been prepared in the Admiralty in London in August, 1915, at a conference of Dominion Ministers. Minister of Agriculture; and the west never had an able, a more conscientious, honorable and painstaking minister. A Regina newspaper of that period well described him as "a good speaker, level-headed and not afraid of work." As a speaker the doctor is lively, competent, practical and forceful, and he has the intellectual quality of impressing his hearers with the conviction that he is a sound and sincere exponent of the cause he advocates. Personally he is among the physical stalwarts; tall and massive, and would probably tip the scales at over two hundred pounds. Since his defeat in 1905 the doctor has pursued his profession at Wollseley, and has made himself more solid than ever in the esteem and respect of his fellow citizens, and his rural neighbors and clients. He is still a young man as statesmen go, and it is to be hoped that he will be seen once more returning to the arena of public affairs. Men of his integrity and executive ability can be ill spared from public life.

CO-OPERATION ESSENTIAL SAYS EARL BEATTY

Put Away Parochial View

Earl Beatty, speaking at the Western Australian dinner in London, Eng., said that the first most important lesson of the war was that Dominion naval co-operation must form the integral part of imperial naval defence. The Royal Australian Navy was an excellent example of the form co-operation can take. It has been accepted that the co-operation, manned by Dominion men and based upon Dominion ports, will be the most useful and efficient way, fostering as it will, the development of the Empire in naval affairs and a knowledge of naval history with which the empire is so intimately connected. He therefore, asks all members of the Empire to put away parochial views and look at the problem as a whole, realizing that if disaster befall the whole, it affected the whole Empire.

Sir John Connolly, Western Australian agent general, said he was afraid that some departments working on overseas settlement were inclined to regard the government of the Empire as recruiting agents, robbing them of their people. They ought to remember that they were sovereign governments, each entitled to regard itself as a centre of the whole.

The Effect Of The Decision Of Assembly

Union Churches Expected to Increase in the West

As a result of the decision of the general assembly, which virtually postpones even a discussion of church union in the Presbyterian church until 1922, the opinion prevails among local denominational leaders that the union church movement will be given a big impetus all over the west. In scores of towns and villages in the prairie provinces at the present time, union on a local scale is known to be under consideration. The belief that some final vote would be given the movement at the general assembly now in session has deterred congregations at many points from taking the step. The decision given at the Ottawa gathering will, in a large measure remove the restraint, as is pointed out.

At the present time there are over 30 union fields in the west. The amalgamation schemes appear to have solved financial difficulties to a considerable extent, so far as they affect the local congregations, but the usual experience is that giving for missions and the H-4 and H-15, and there would be four torpedo tubes. The total personnel on all vessels named would be 608. Mr. Ballantyne stated that the supplementary estimates for $2,200,000, including the estimates now before the house, would make the total for defence of the present fiscal year $2,500,000.

Mysterious Dynamite Outrage

The grocery store, operated by Joe and Mary Maloney, at the corner of Wollseley Avenue and George Street, St. Catharines, was dynamited a few days ago by parties unknown. Much damage was done to the building, but the proprietors who were sleeping above the store escaped without serious injury.

LABOR DELEGATES REPORT ON RUSSIA

History of Movement

Eighteen years ago, 1902, the Methodist proposed organic union. The Congregationalists at once gave promise of acceptance, which later they validated. In June, 1907, the assembly voted in its favor 137 to 11, 92 per cent.

In June, 1908, the assembly took a second vote. This time it stood only 156 to 32, hardly 83 per cent; but negotiations continued, and in June, 1913, another 811 of assembly was taken, and it dropped to 178 to 54, equalling 76 per cent. This decline was due to the fact that in the meantime they had taken a vote of the church in which so many of their people refused or neglected to vote that out of 223,811 communicants only 103,534 voted for union and against that number there was over 30,000 voting nay.

The Progress in 1916 It was concluded that 50,000 was too large a number to leave outside; and it was decided to canvass the project pro and con and take another vote. This was done in the winter of 1915-16. The number of ballots was larger, but the opposition increased 73,000. This with the votes of assembly shows that union is only coming in the way Blind Jim got upstairs. He went up one step, and fell down two.

Assembly of 1915 agreed that they could not have war in the church and war with the Kaiser too, and the project was silenced until second assembly after peace. But the unionists did not let their attitude was based on principle, and therefore unalterable. Annually, June, 1916, suggested that the Methodist and the Congregationalists proceed to union should they be so disposed.

History of Movement

The first report of the British labor delegates who have just returned from an investigation of conditions of Russia has been made public. The delegates declare themselves deeply impressed with the distress and disorganization which they found in Russia, the dejection of the people, and the extent of the government's interference with individual liberty. The report is said to be unanimous.

The report describes the blockade as injurious to the world and distress and disorganization which reference to the epidemic of diseases to which the absence of soap and medical supplies has given full sway, although great efforts have been made toward sanitation. Denouncing the Polish war, the report says:

"The appeal for creative work is being once more set aside in favor of an appeal to military enthusiasm, while the war conditions provide new pretexts for restricting individual liberty and preventing freedom of discussion."

Advocates Recognition

The report says war rallies all parties to the defense of the country; it emphasizes the breakdown in manufactures through lack of raw material and advocates the immediate recognition of Russia. The report was brought to England by Benjamin Turner and Tom Shaw, members of the British labor delegation which visited Russia, for presentation to the labor congress at Scarborough. They brought also a letter from Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier, exhorting the workers to revolution in England, which has created a sensation.

Lenin criticizes the surprise expressed by the delegation at the "red terror," the suppression of freedom of the press, and free assembly, and declares that the "red terror" is the defense of the working men against exploiters, and that freedom of the press and assembly in a bourgeois democracy means freedom to plot against the working men.

Alberta in the Month of June

June is Alberta's fairest month. It is the month of which all men and women seem to have awakened to new life, and I doubt very much that many other places can claim the looks of Alberta's prairies and woods at this time. Get up about four o'clock on a June morning and listen to the numerous singing birds or watch the flowers grow; everything is the greenest of beautiful green and everyone is full of hope. The farmer then has just finished putting in his crops and hopes for good returns. Cutworms, high winds, drought, frost, hail and other enemies too numerous to mention may at last blot his hopes, but at the beginning of June they have not shown up much. If you have the "Blues" during the week go down in the woods along the Bow. On Sundays in the month of June there are places along the Bow river that are second to none in beauty. All the trees are now leaved out and the Saskatoons and other berry bushes are in full bloom by the month of June. You, it is grand and glorious, and on a real fine June day a man is apt to forget all the bad things he said about the Alberta climate during the winter.

The walks the river surroundings are worth travelling a long way to see. The river is a long way off for many people, and if you live on a farm and have woods, flowers and birds you can have these things right around your home if you will go at it right and spend a little extra work on it.

This has been a good winter on trees and practically every tree in my grove, both shade and fruit trees, have come through the winter in fine shape. Just think but the looks of this western country would be improved if every farm was surrounded by a grove. I have often noticed that cars passing by my place, especially during the month of June when the grove looks its best, drive very slow to take a good look at the grove, and often when I was sitting under a tree and unnoticed, I have heard such exclamations as: "Oh, how beautiful!" and "What we had a similar grove on our farm!" And I have often wondered why more people don't try it. It is so simple and easy, just a little determination and hard work. The soil on my farm is no better than on my neighbor's, the climate the same, and I don't consider myself any more competent in this line than the average farmer, in fact every farmer, if he will try, can have a grove.

But it is not only the shelter belt that you can grow. It is all the flowers, shrubs and fruits you can grow inside that belt.

Any tulip beds, which have been so much admired by passers-by this spring, are the simplest and most inexpensive things in the world to grow. Spend a dollar or two to some nursery and get all and get a collection of tulip bulbs, put these into the ground where you want your flowers, leave them out over winter and forget all about it, and next and all succeeding springs they will appear and bloom as regular as the season. Or plant lilac bushes and other flowering shrubs. It will take several years before the lilacs will bloom, but it is worth waiting for. Rhubarb and asparagus also do fine inside shelter belt, and in the early spring in May and June it is nice to go out into the rhubarb and asparagus you can use for your own consumption. Then the strawberry patch looks alike. Mine are now in bloom in the month of June, and it looks like a fine strawberry year providing the season will not be too dry, for strawberries need moisture. Currants, gooseberries and raspberries also grow successfully inside the shelter belt, especially currants. My currant bushes are loaded with fruit; there must be bushes of them, both red and white and black this year. Who would some of these big clusters of juicy red currant look to some of you people who have heard of anything but the canned article made of you don't know what.

Last, but not least come the fruit trees that you can raise inside your shelter belt. Right now in the beginning of June my plum cherry and crabapple trees are a mass of flowers beautiful to behold. How would some of you people born in the fruit districts of old Ontario and other fruit districts like to look at real apple and plum blossoms out here on the Alberta prairie? Even should these trees bear any real fruit, the beauty and sweet smell of the flowers are alone worth the trouble of buying and planting the trees. But these trees will

Up to the Cowman Now

The roundup of cattle preparatory to dipping on the 24th is now under way. Much will depend in the thoroughness of it whether Southern Alberta is to be "clean" in the future or whether it is to continue to be described as the "dirty area."

Two important conditions are attached to the department's promise to lift the blanket quarantine. These are that all the cattle be dipped twice and that one of the evidence that all have been dipped twice is the delivery of the same number of animals for the second dip as went through the first, or account for the difference. This is the cattlemen's law. He must not only make good, but he must keep eyes on his neighbor and see to it that he also makes good.

The department officials are to be commended for the excellent organization they have effected but one many animal left out ends all that has been done during the past six months.

Every man must be "the brother keeper" during the next 20 days. The roundup must be clean, the solution must be of the proper strength, temperature, and every animal must remain in the solution for the required time.

The Cattlemen's Protective Association is exceedingly anxious that this work shall be properly done. It realizes that the effort now being put forth to make a thorough "clean up" is largely of its own creation, and if there is a failure, part of the stigma will attach to their organization, and the bulk of the losses that will result will have to be borne by its members because the majority of the cattle in the range areas are owned by members of the association. They are therefore supported and cooperating with the veterinary branch in every way that will tend to insure a thoroughness of the forthcoming "dip" from now until July 1st.

The association expects that every man who owns a cow will do his duty—W. F. Stevens, secretary Cattlemen's Protective Association.

Newspaper Convention

The annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association was held in Toronto on June 27 and 28. Over three hundred publishers were present, and a great deal of interest was taken in the proceedings. The convention throughout its entire session was a very interesting and educational nature, and while they dealt with the technical side of the business, yet several addresses were delivered which emphasized the importance of the local newspaper in elevating the morals of the community and promoting its best interests.

Conditions as regards costs in the printing industry are very much deteriorated at present, owing to the constant increase for more time and paper, and also of labor. The association is endeavoring to get all printers to adopt proper cost systems, or they can find the cost of their product and quote a fair price to their customers. At present there are some in the business who are not controlling their overhead costs properly, and the estimates they give sometimes cause the buying public to think that printers were either grafters or fools. It was decided by unanimous vote to hold next year's convention at Vancouver, B.C.

On the Saturday following the convention the delegation, in many cases accompanied by their wives, crossed Lake Ontario by boat and from there went to East Aurora, N.Y., where they were entertained and shown over the Robert Shop, founded by the late Elbert Hubbard, and now being carried on successfully by his son. These shops are probably producers of the best quality printing done in the North American Continent, and the conditions under which the work is done are ideal. The business companies the works are artistically yet solidly built, and the environment is situated to the production of quality work.

Prior to the close of the convention a mass vote of thanks was passed to the railway and steamship lines of Canada for the transportation facilities accorded the delegates, and also to the other organizations which had assisted in promoting the success of the convention. Geo. W. Evans represented The Call at the convention, and was in Canada way too much for the kindly way the C.P.R. and other transportation companies used the delegates on this journey, the C.P.R. making it especially pleasant on the long trip to Toronto and return.

A Real Comedy
at Queenstown
"The Rector" at Milo Hall
Friday, June 25th.

An interesting entertainment is being planned by the Women's Institute of Queenstown for Friday evening, June 25th, at the U.F.A. hall at Milo. A comedy of one act, "The Rector", will be of chief interest. This little play portrays the troubles of a young and unmarried rector living in a small town with a score of unmarried females. A carpet committee composed of these interesting characters make an amusing scene. A musical program will follow and close with a medley of American patriotic and war songs. The national songs of such countries are being used in Canada and create considerable interest. Uncle Sam and Miss Canada will assist in the chorus. Following the program coffee will be served in the basement. Ladies are requested to bring boxes with support for two and their name inside. These boxes will not be auctioned off but will be sold at a flat rate of one dollar each. After supper the Queenstown orchestra will furnish the music for all inclined to trip up the light fantastic. A good time is expected for everyone.

ARROWOOD NEWS

The community is to be congratulated that they are so fortunate as to secure a man of such renowned influence to lecture to them as J. W. Leedy former governor of Kansas. Mr. Leedy has been touring in Western Alberta for several years and is a naturalized Canadian. On the evening of June 24th anyone will have to be in the hall of the Arrowood Consolidated School early if they expect a seat.

The Queenstown farmers' annual picnic will be held on Friday, July 30th, at the same place on the north side of the river as last year. Among new features will be an automobile parade and music at the grounds. Then the usual games and sports will take place. In the evening the picnickers will adjourn to the Milo Hall for a dance.

Local and District News

Now get after the weeds.

Watch that smile broken on Mr.
Farmer.

Don't forget to hear Ex Governor Leidy tomorrow night at Arrowood school.

The dates set for the Dominion Chautauque here this year has been for August 6th to 12th.

David McLean is happy now more than ever. And was born in Calgary on Tuesday, June 15th.

Take a good look at pages 2, 3, 6 and 7 of this issue and also note that every column of The Call is two inches longer.

Grashoppers are now working north and south and the farmers are busy. To save yourself the only way is to help your neighbor.

The Home Insurance Co. has paid losses south of Gleichen to Messrs.
J. P. Beagle and Ira Miller through the local agent, Wm. McConnell.

Monday, June 23, at 8 p.m. sharp the G.W.V.A. will give another of their popular wild drives. Admission 50c. Ladies please bring baskets.

The baseball match at Bassano last Friday evening resulted in a score of 3 to 5 in the home team's favor. Gleichen is improving with each game.

Last Wednesday night some hail fell south of the river, leaving the ground white. However, the damage reported to crops is slight and those effected are coming up good.

Rain, rain and more rain. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with plenty of sunshine between showers and since 10 a.m. crop growing sweeter.

Every person in this district really should hold a membership ticket of the Gleichen District Agricultural Association. For every member the Provincial Government pays the Association $1.

Rev. R. N. Matheson returned Saturday morning from attending the Presbyterian General Assembly at Ottawa. He had a fine trip and has some good news for Gleichen which he is quite prepared to give for publication this week.
He was agreeably surprised to find wherever he went people knew something about Gleichen, and says this town is well advertised.

More and Better Wheat

At no time in the history of Canada has her wheat fields meant so much to the world as now. Canada produces wheat of the finest grain and in such large quantities as to place the Department well up among the wheat producing countries of the world. Both Federal and provincial departments of agriculture have done their share in improving wheat varieties and extending the growth of this necessary cereal. An interesting account of the work that has been done is contained in the May number of the Agricultural Gazette, the official organ of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

It is there shown that the most widely grown varieties were developed by Canadian scientists. Preston, Stuart, Hume, Bishop, O.A.C. No. 164, Jarvis, Ruby and Pretoria have each their valuable factors. The history and characteristics of each are given.
The seed branch and the department assist the Canadian Seed Growers' Association in extending the growth of pedigreed varieties. The seed branch distributes seed, gives expert communications and seed fairs, tests seeds for purity and merchantable, imports seeds on sale, and has, through the Canadian Seed Purchasing Commission, secured supplies of dependable seed wheat during recent years.
